FATAL COLLISION.

The Target Was Turned and Two Trains Collided.

Three Killed, and Others Mangled-Two Corpses in Transit Mutilated and Government Money Scattered About.

Tirrin. O., Jan. 29 .- This morning at 12:45 as the east-bound passenger train on the Bultimore & Ohio was pulling into Chicago Junction it collided with a westbound freight train. The target was turned, blocking the freight train from the side ca, became the reight train from the side track. The conductor of the freight, Charles Palmer, and a brakeman named Thomas Creele were in the caboose. They failed to flag the passenger train and had no signals out. The passenger train was running at the rate of fifty-five miles per hour, or faster. It carried two coaches and three the rate of fitty-five miles per hour, or faster. It carried two coaches and three sleepers, all of which were badly damaged. In the baggage-car was a coffin containing two corpses, a mother and her babe, which the husband was taking from Dakota to Baitimore. The rough box was broken open, the corpses turned on their faces and horribly mutilated. Two pa-sengers were in the smoking carplaying cards. Neither of them can tell what was the trump. The baggage car and express-coach were shattered into tooth-picks. The express-car was carrying a considerable amount of Uncle Bam's silver, which was scattered far and near. The elegier were full of passengers, and fortunately for them no one was seriously injured. The engine was buried in the bank fifteen feet away from the track. It is a complete wreck. When the trains struck the tender, baggage car and two coaches were thrown about fifty feet ahead of the engine. Fifteen box-cars were piled up by the track, and there was no piece of the caboose left that a man could not carry off. Thousands from the surrounding country visited the wreck. The names of the killed and wounded are as follows: J. R. Briston, conductor of the passenger, Pielmont, W. Va., aged thirty-two, unmarried, resides with his mother, who is a widow. He died at 10:10 a. m., unconscious. George Vandaller, fireman on the passenger, lediment, and the was found dead beside his engine. Charles Palmer, conductor of the freight, died at 7 a. m.; married. His home is in Garrett, Ind. Compound fracture of the right thigu. An unknown lady was scalded, and ner right limb fractured. The accident happened one and a half miles from Chicago Junction. The wreck is still burning. The wounded were removed to Tiffin. Miss Belle Moore, of Deshler, who was engaged to be married to Engineer Briston, arrived here to night and viewed the corpse. The remains were taken to his home at Garrett by his brother, who arrived half an hour before his death.

SAVED HIS FLOCK.

A Cool Readed Minister Averts a Horrible Catastrophy.

LASALLE, ILL., Jan. 29 .- Six hundred people gathered in the new hall in the rear of the Methodist Rpiscopal Church last night to celebrate Robert Burns' birth-day. The hall is on the second floor and supported from the cross beam above by a bolted iron rod. During prayer the floor began to sipk and a total collapse of the building pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church perceiving the danger, began to sing. The immense congregation paused, and the intervals of maction saved countless lives, for the next pustant the subting sensation ceased. In inaction saved countless lives, for the next instant the sinking sensation ceased. In accordance with the advice then given the crowd disbursed in small details. An investigation showed that the thread of the rod had stripped off inside the boil because of the weight below. If a rush and the consequent disturbance of the floor had followed the settling, the rod must have been wrenched from the bolt, and the building wrecked. There being a large coal fire on the floor, and only one exit by a spiral stairway, the ensuing horrors can be easily imagined. A subscription list is being circulated and generously signed to reward the quick witted pastor.

All of the bonds of this loan will be called by the original numbers only.

Facts for Millers and Farmers.

MILWAUREE, WIS., Jan. 29 .- Advanced sheets from a Biennial Miller's Directory shows a net decrease of 6,812 flouring mills in the United States and Canada, as comin the United States and Canada, as compared with 1884. The number of mills at present in operation is 13,267. The gross capacity shows a slight increase over 1884. Every State and Territory shows a decrease in number of mills, except Dakota, Nevada and the District of Columbia. In Wisconsin there is a loss of 120 mills, the present number being 637. The most marked loss is in Pennsylvania, Ohio, New York, Illinois, Missouri, Texas, and the Province of Ontario.

LONDON, Jan. 29 .- The Queen has accept ed the resignations of Lord Salisbury and his Cabinet, and has summoned Mr. Gladstone for a consultation. Lord Salisbury returned to London this evening from Osborne. He was closely guarded by detectives. The dead-lock between Mr. Gladstone and Lord Hartington continues, the latter holding that the repression of disorders in Ireland is primarily necessary. Previous to Mr. Gladstone being summoned it was reported that the Queen hesitated between the ex-Premier and Lord Hartington, and has ordered the Ministers not to surrender their seats of office until Mondey.

THE CAPITOL BUILDING.

The Work on the Terraces Goes SteadilyOn WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.-The work on the terraces at the Capitol building goes stead ily on when the weather will permit. The marble is from the same quarries in Massachusetts as that used in the construction of the House and Senate wings of the Capitol. Blocks of marble come ready dressed save polishing and addition of moldings, nine feet long, one foot nine inches in width, and one foot seven inches thick. It is sawed by machinery at the quarries, and few cracks or blemishes escape observation. Another feature that has been remarked about the marble is finer the product, and the supply seems finer the product, and the supply seems inexhaustible. After the marble is taken out of the eerth it is placed in schooners, carrying about three hundred tons, and shipped to Washington, where it is unloaded at Richard's wharf, foot of New Jersey avenue. It was at this same wharf that all the marble for the Capitol wings was unloaded. The force of workmen is now employed in dressing the marble preparatory for an early renewal of the work in the spring, say about the middle of March. The stairways and approaches of the north and south fronts of the Capitol will be 300 feet long and about fifteen feet high. The base line is of black granite from York. Pennsylvania and the walls are of brick finely cemented. There has been a change in the original plans, growing out of a desire to use some of the space between these walls for committee rooms. On the west front, therefore, double windows will be put in each panel, and the result will be light, well ventilated rooms into which fresh air will not have to be pumped to make them inhabitable. The effect of this improvement on the appearance of the Capitol from a distance will be very picturesque. The building as seen from Arlington Heights, looks aiready as large again, especially at the base. One can readily imagine, therefore, what will be the effect when the entire west front is joined to the wings by a continuous wall of pure white marble. If in the course of time it is decided to rebuild the center of the Capitol, in which the done is so conspicuous a feature, undoubtedly this grade of marble will be used, and the result will be the hand-somest and strongest marble structure in the world. inexhaustible. After the marble is taken CHICAGO, Jan retary of the State ceived a dispatch last evening, saying that the son of a farmer in Richfield Township, Adams County, was afflicted with a disease Adams County, was afflicted with a disease believed to be glanders. The boy had been taking care of two horses which were attacked with the disease and had been ordered shot by Assistant State Veterinarian Stimpson. Dr. Rauch directed that the boy be kept out of school, and ordered an investigation of the case. There have been altogether five cases of glanders in human beings reported in this State, three of which proved fatal. The disease is said to be one of the most frightful disorders that mankind is afflicted with, not excepting leprosy. Thus far no remedy has been discovered to overcome it when in an advanced state.

LONDON, Jan. 28 .- The Evening News states that it has the highest authority for stating that Lord Salisbury has advised the Queen to summon Lord Hartington to form a Cabinet. The News expects that Earl Granville, Lord Rosebery and Earl Spencer will be members of the new Cabinet, though the appointment of Granville as Foreign Secretary would elicit a deep groan from the Liberal portion of the country. The Daily Telegraph is of the opinion that the leading Liberals, including the most prominent members of Mr. Gladstone's last Cabinet, with the ax Premier himself, should invite the assistance of Mr. Parnell or Mr. Healy in arranging a home rule scheme. The entire press is opposed to the idea of the appointment of Lord Granville to be Foreign Secretary.

He slowed up, and discovered that a huge bowlder had slipped down the hill and rested on the track. A boy named Clark Isler, son of a miner, had heard the rock rushing down the hill, and getting his pit lampran to the place and signaled the train, and in doing so saved the train from a terrible wreck, which must have necessarily been attended with fatal results. A large purse of money was made up among the passent gers and presented to the boy.

THE ANGEL OF DEATH

ard—The Mother Succumbs to the Shock of Her Daughter's Sud-den Call. Washington, Jan. 31.—Mrs. Bayard died this morning. Deep sympathy is felt for the Secretary and his family. Unlike the death of her daughter, this one has been expected, for the mother began to fall at death of her daughter, this one has been expected, for the mother began to fall at once when the daughter died. The Secretary is thoroughly prostrated, and some of his friends say they would not be surprised if he should feel like giving up his duties here at no distant day. The immediate cause of Mrs. Bayard's death was congestion of the brain, brought on by the shock of her daughter's sudden death. For the first week following that event she stood the strain and excitement quite well, but a week ago last Friday she was compelled to take to bed, and gradually grew worse from day to day. On Thursday congestion of the brain made its appearance. She was unconscious for twenty-four hours before her death. Although for years Mrs. Bayard had been a confirmed invalid, she had for the last six months been in better health than for many years. Last summer she was very ill at her home in Wilmington, Del., with complication of the liver and stomach, and her recovery at that time was doubtful. At the solicitation of her daughter, Miss Kate, she put herself under the care of Dr. F. A. Gardner, of this city, and under his treatment she had improved so much as to be able to go in society this winter, although still an invalid, was in comparatively good health when her daughter died. She was about fifty-one years of age.

An Interesting Situation.

TROY, N.Y., Jan. 31.—An interesting feature of the struggle between the Knights of Labor and the Fuller & Warren Company was developed yesterday afternoon. There are seven freight cars on a side track loaded with Fuller & Warren stoves consigned to various branch stoves consigned to various branch houses of the concern. The Delaware and Hudson locomotive engineers, who are members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Knights of Labor, have refused to haul the cars because the goods contained in them are boycotted. Trouble is expected to grow out of the affair. If an engineer is discharged all the others, it is said, will strike.

HONORING HIS MEMORY.

Eulogies Pronounced on the Late Vice President Hendricks by Senators Voorhees, Hampton, Ransom, Spooner, Sherman, Evarts and Others.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Yesterday being the day appointed for the Senate addresses in memoriam of the late Vice-President Hendricks, the galleries of the Senate began to fill at an early hour. When, therefore, at noon, President pro tempore Sherman called the Senate to order, all the seats in the galleries were occupied, the larger proportion of the occupants being ladies. After the trans-action of some unimportant business, Mr. Voorhees called up his resolution expressive of the Senate's deep sense of the public loss in the death of the late Vice-President Hen-dricks. The resolution having been read, or the Senate's deep sense of the public loss in the death of the late Vice-President Hendricks. The resolution having been read, Mr. Voorhees addressed the Senate.

In strong and graphic English, Mr. Voorhees reviewed the life and public services of Mr. Hendricks. In dealing with Mr. Hendricks' political views, Mr. Voorhees said it had been, and especially late in his life, charged as a reproach against him that he was a partisan If, by that, the speaker said, was meant that he sincerely believed in the principles and purposes of the party to which he belonged, and sought, by all honorable methods, what he believed to be the public good by placing its measures and its men in control of the Government, then the accusat on was true, and the term of reproach became a just tribute to an honest man. It was the partisan of deep, honest convict ons dealing justly with opposing views, who, in all ages of the world, in every field of human progress had led the way.

In conclusion, Mr. Voorhees said: "As long as American history treasures up pure lives and faithful public services—as long as public and private virtue, stainless and without blemish, is revered, so long will the name of Thomas A. Hendricks be cherished by the American people as an example worthy of enulation. Monuments of brass and marble will lift their heads to Heaven in honor of his name, but a monument more precious to his memory and more valuable to the world has already been grounded in the hearts of the people whom he served so long, faithfully and with such signal ability, in the busy harvest of death of the year 1885 there was gathered into eternity no nobler spirit, no higher intelligence, no fairer soul.

Mr. Hampton (S. C.) said that when one of the great actors in the political arena fell, all animosities were buried with him. This impress on was indelibly fixed on the speakers were Confederate soldiers, who, a few brief j are ago, were his mortal enemies. The same generous feeling marked the obseques of the dead Vice-President. If political

"that the everiasis established in the hearts and that through the couds of the we can behold the peace that is never to broken."

Mr. Spooner (Wis., in culogizing the dead Vice-Pre-sident, delivered his maiden speech, and was listened to with great interest. He spoke at length of Mr. Hendrick's strong partisanship and as d that to him no political partisanship, honorable in his methods, was offensive. In party he saw only the instrumentality farough which, and through which alone, might be wrought out the friumph of his principles. In active, faithful, honorable party service he saw, therefore, devotion to the principle, not mere linst for office. The imputation that he was a spolisman, he said, rather angered than grieved Mr. Hendricks, for he knew it came from those who had either been of a hostile camp, or, if his own, had wont to linger in the shade and slumber while he and the "boys," as he sometimes leved to call the party workers, had borne the heat and dust and burden of the battle. Spoilsman or not, he went down to his grave loved, trusted and mouraed by his party.

The water about Roberts' island, which is protected by levees, rose nine fect above the level of the land. The pressure was too great for the levees to withstand, and a break occurred through which the water rushed and soon converted thirteen thousand acres of wheat and orchards into a miniature lake. The Chicago Manual Training School and Its Growing Popularity.

Manual training has laid hold upon the imagination of the American people-The register of the Chicago Manual Training School contains the names of visitors from all parts of this country, from Canada, and from England. On last commencement-day seven hundred persons visited the school, passing through the several laboratories and witnessing the exercises. It is true, many of those visitors were relations and personal friends of students; but relations and personal friends of students of schools of the old regime visit them very frequently. Many of the visitors of manual training schools are women. They are enthusiasts on the subject of the new education. Their comprehension of it is clearer than that of men. This is doubtless because they are possessed of a higher degree of intuition, are more imaginative, more un-selfish and less ambitious, and have less aversion to labor. Froebel found women better adapted to the work of teaching than men. The kindergarten and manual training are identical in principal; but the kindergarten has truggled long, and as yet unsuccessfully, except in a few instances, for admission to the schools, while manual training, a thing of yesterday in its educational aspect, has conquered all the educational outposts, and now waits only the formal surrounder of the gravison of the city and surrender of the garrison of the citadel. It possesses the fascination of the concrete as opposed to the drowsy effect of abstract speculation. The Manual Training School building itself powerfully attracts the healthy active boy. Smoke issues from the tall chimney that rises high above the roof, and the hum of machinery is heard, and the heavy thud of the sledge resounding on the anvil makes music in the ear.

The interior is more attractive still.

The rhythmic motion of the polished Corliss engine responds to the now throbbing heart of the expected lad. The shafting in the wood-turning laboratory speaks of mystery. It is a laby-rinth of belts, large and small, of wheels, big and little, of pulleys and lathes. A student moves a lever a few inches, and the breath of life is breathed into the complicated mass of machinery. From the engine far away come the currents of its power. The whir of steam-driven machines salutes the ear, and the class of twenty-four students take their places at the lathes. So in the laboratory of forging the furnace fires give back an answering glow to the glow of the visiting lad's flushed cheeks. All this is in very sharp contrast to the monotony of the recitation-room of the old regime. The superiority of the new over the old education consists largely in the fact that it alternates the purely mental with the mental and manual exercise combined.

During the pauses of labor in the laboratories of the Manual Training School the well equipped instructor delivers a series of brief lectures on subjects growing logically out of the exercises. In the drawing-room he skytches in bold outline the biographies o' the great masters of the graphic art. In the laboratory of carpentry he disuses the natural history of certain trees, and considers the qualities of woods, their adaptability and various uses. In the wood-turning laboratory the subject of the history of turnery is found to be not less delightful than exhaustible, and the manipulations of the iron and steel laboratories are closely allied to all the the manipulations of the from and seed laboratories are closely allied to all the great events of the world's history. The moulding and casting laboratory is richly suggestive of subjects for discussion.—Charles H. Ham in Harper's Mag-

JUST AS BAD AS PAINTED. Widespread Commotion Caused by the Terrible Confession of a Physician.

The story published in these columns re cently, from the Rochester, N. Y., Democrat and Chronicle, created a deal of comment here as it has elsewhere. Apparently it caused even more commotion in Rochester, here as it has elsewhere. Apparently it caused even more commotion in Rochester, as the following from the same paper shows:

Dr. J. B. Henion, who is well-known not only in Rochester, but in nearly every part of America, sent an extended article to this paper a few days ago which was duly published, detailing his remarkable experience and rescue from what seemed to be certain death. It would be impossible to enumerate the personal inquiries which have been made at our office as to the validity of the article, but they have been so numerous that further investigation of the subject was deemed necessary.

With this end in view a representative of this paper called on Dr. Henion at his residence on Andrew street, when the following interview occurred: "That article of yours, Doctor, has created quite a whirlwind. Are the statements about the terrible condition you were in, and the way you were rescued; such as you can sustain?"

"Every one of them and many additional ones. I was brought so low by neglecting the first and most simple symptoms. I did not think I was sick. It is true I had frequent beadaches; felt tired most of the time; could eat nothing one day and was ravenous the next; felt dull pains and my stomach was out of order, but I did not think I meant anything serious. The medical profession has been treating symptoms instead of diseases for years, and it is high time it ceased. The symptoms I have just mentioned or any unusual action or irritation of the water channels indicate the approach of kidney disease more than a cough announces the coming of consumption. We do not treat the cough, but try to help the lungs. We should not waste our time trying to relieve the headache, pains about the body or other symptoms, but go directly to the kidneys, the source of most of these ailments."

"This, then, is what you meant when you said that more than one-half the deaths body or other symptons, but go directly to the kidneys, the source of most of these allments."

"This, then, is what you meant when you said that more than one-half the deaths which occur arise from Bright's disease, is it Doctor!"

"Precisely. Thousands of diseases are torturing people to-day, which in reality are Bright's disease in some of its many forms. It is a hydra-headed monster, and the slightest symptoms should strike terror to every one who has them. I can look back and recall hundreds of deaths which physicians declared at the time were caused by paralysis, apoplexy, heart disease, pneumonia, malarial fever and other common complaints, which i see now were caused by Bright's disease."

"And did all these cases have simple symptoms at first!"

"Every one of them, and might have been cured as I was by the timely use of the same remedy. I am getting my eyes thoroughly opened in this matter and think I am helping others to see the facts and their possible danger also."

Mr. Warner, who was visited at his estabment on North St. Paul street, spoke very earnestly:

"It is true that Bright's disease had in-

Mr. Warner, who was visited at his estabment on North St. Paul street, spoke very earnestly:

"It is true that Bright's disease had increased wonderfully, and we find, by reliable statistics that from '70 to '80, its growth was over 250 per cent. Look at the prominent men it has carried off, and is taking off every year, for while many are dying apparently of paralysis and apoplexy, they are really victims of kidney disorder, which causes heart disease, paralysis, apoplexy, etc. Nearly every week the papers record the death of some prominent man from this scourge. Recently, however, the increase has been checked and I attribute this to the general use of my remedy."

"Do you think many people are afflicted with it to-day who do not realize it?"

"A prominent professor in a New Orleans medical college was lecturing before his class on the subject of Bright's disease. He had various fluids under microscopic analysis and was showing the students what the indications of this terrible malady were. 'And now, gentlemen,' he said, 'as we have seen the unhealthy indications I will show you how it appears in a state of perfect health,' and he submitted his own fluid to the usual test. As he watched the results his countenance suddenly changed—his color and command both left him and in a trembling voice he said: 'Gentlemen, I have made a painful discovery; I have Bright's disease of the kidneys.' And in less than a year he was dead. The slightest indications of any kidney difficulty should be enough to strike terror to any one."

"You know of Dr. Henion's case."

"You believe then that Bright's disease can be cured!"

"It is very wonderful, is it not!"

"No more so than a great many others that havecome to my notice as having been cured by the same means."

"You believe then that Bright's disease can be cured!"

'I know it can. I know it from my own and the experience of thousands of prominent persons who were given up to die by both their physicians and friends."

"You speak of your own experience; what was it?"
"A fearful one. I had felt languid and unfitted for business for years. But I did not know what ailed me. When, however, I found it was kidney difficulty I thought there was little hope and so did the doctors. I have since learned that one of the physicians of this city pointed me out to a gentleman ou the street one day, saying: 'There goes a man who will be dead within a year.' I believe his words would have proved true if I had not providentially used the remedy now known as Warner's Safe Cure."

Cure."
"Did you make a chemical analysis of the case of Mr. H. H. Warner, some three years ago, Doctor?" was asked Dr. S. A. Lattimore, one of the analysts of the state board of health."

"Yes, sir."
"What did this analysis show you?"
"A serious disease of the kidneys."
"Did you think Mr. Warner could recov-

"Did you think Mr. Warner could recover?"
"No, sir. I did not think it possible."
"Do you know anything about the remedy which cured him?"
"I have chemically analyzed it and find it pure and harmless."
Dr. Henion was cured five years any and is well and attending to his professional duties to-day, in this city. The standing of Dr. Henion, Mr. Warner and Dr. Lattimore in the community is beyond question, and the statements they make can not for a moment be doubted. Dr. Henion's experience shows that Bright's disease of the kidneys is one of the most deceptive and dangerous of all diseases, that it is exceedingly common, but that it can be cured if taken in time.

- "I must have order in this court room," sternly demanded a justice of the peace. "I must and will have less noise and confusion here. I have already disposed of three important cases without being able to hear a word of the evidence."-Philadelphia Cali.
